Inspiration:

Leaning against a bar or high table, we often cross our legs in a relaxed and comfortable posture that also evokes a certain energy – as if we are poised for action. As our limbs cross and re-cross they create a refined geometry of intersecting triangles, producing forms that are both complex and simple.

This is the inspiration for the Criss-Cross barstool, an elegant chair with long lines mirroring the infinite grace of the human form. This understated and sophisticated design has been crafted in a light wood with a dash of unexpected color that catches the eye. Importantly, it also offers a comfortable seat and adequate arm and foot support, ensuring that you will enjoy sitting on it as much as you will enjoy looking at it.
